Report of Orientation programme for the students of B.Ed and B.P.Ed programme of session 2026-28

Introduction: Nikhil Banga Sikshan Mahavidyalaya organized a three-day Orientation Programme for the newly admitted B.Ed. and B.P.Ed. students of the session 2026–28 from 3rd November to 5th November, 2026. The primary objective of the programme was to familiarize the students with the professional nature of teacher education, institutional facilities, academic environment, rules and regulations, and various scholarship schemes available to them.

The Programme: During the programme, the students were oriented towards the aims and objectives of the B.Ed. and B.P.Ed. programmes, professional ethics, responsibilities of prospective teachers, and the importance of discipline, commitment and dedication in the teaching profession. The students were also introduced to the various infrastructural and academic facilities available in the institution. Special attention was given to the functioning and utilization of the college library, including the availability of textbooks, reference books, journals and other learning resources. Another important aspect of the orientation programme was to provide information regarding different scholarship schemes available to eligible students. The students were informed about the relevant application procedures, eligibility criteria and necessary documentation so that they could avail themselves of the benefits of various government-sponsored scholarship programmes. On 5th November, 2026, Swami Shibrupananda addressed the newly admitted students and extended his good wishes for their successful academic journey. In his address, he emphasized the importance of moral values, self-discipline, dedication, humanity and spiritual development in shaping the personality of future teachers. His inspiring words motivated the students to become responsible, committed and value-oriented professionals.

Conclusion: The programme concluded successfully with the hope that the orientation would enable the students to begin their academic journey with enthusiasm, discipline and a clear understanding of their responsibilities as future teachers and physical education professionals.
