Report on Field Survey to Jogmaya Sarovar on 04.07.2025

Introduction: It was easier to obtain local information through field surveys than through secondary sources. According to the predetermined objectives, field surveys are conducted to collect the data needed for a thorough analysis of the problem under study. Furthermore, these investigations aid in the researcher's understanding of the general circumstances and procedures as well as the environment in which they take place. This is made feasible by "observation," a practical technique for obtaining data from which conclusions can be drawn. In order to field survey, the students of Environmental studies and population education B.Ed SEM IV of session 2023-25 went to JOGMAYA SAROVAR at ADRA, Bankura for Socio-Economic field survey on 04.07.2025 under the guidance Dr. Kalpataru Mondal with the following objectives:

- To study the Environmental inputs in Kashipur, Jogomaya Sarovar and Joychandi Hill.
- To study habitants of local peoples.
- To study economical situation.
- To take interview of the local community in respect to environmental inputs.

Outcomes:

- Students were involved and divided into groups to interact with local community members for the study and their experience.
- Students were involved to exchange opinions with local authority regarding environmental inputs.
- Engaged to know exceptional case with regards to picnic and outreach programme maintaining local environment.
- Took data about raiding, habitants and local problem-solve factors with mitigation from Govt. and NGO.
