Report on Tree plantation Camp on 23.07.2026

Introduction: On July 23, 2026, starting at 8:00 AM, our institution's campus successfully hosted a tree planting program with the goals of raising environmental awareness, expanding green space, and motivating students to take responsibility for preserving the environment. Faculty, non-teaching staff, NSS volunteers, and students all actively participated in the program, which was run under the direction of the NSS Program Officer.

The Programme : During the program's brief opening session, the principal stressed the value of trees in preserving ecological balance, halting climate change, and guaranteeing a healthy environment for coming generations. Additionally, instructors urged students to incorporate sustainable environmental practices into their everyday lives.

Participants planted a range of saplings, including fruit-bearing, medicinal, and shade-giving trees, at specific campus areas after the first session. The NSS volunteers oversaw the plantation operations and made sure every seedling was properly planted and watered. Participants also pledged to nurture and protect the planted trees to ensure their healthy growth.

Students were motivated to actively contribute to a cleaner and greener society by the program, which raised awareness of environmental protection. Additionally, it enhanced the participants' sense of community duty, social responsibility, and teamwork.

Conclusion: A vote of thanks was held to thank the principal, professors, volunteers, and all participants for making the Tree Plantation Program a success. During the event, 70 saplings were planted, which is a major step in the direction of environmental sustainability.
